U.S. WORKS ON PLAN TO SEND AID TO CHINA

Marshall Says Assistance To Be Used with 70 Per Cent Efficiency.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Secretary of State Marshall said today the government is working on a program to help China with the expectation that any funds will be used with "about 70 per cent efficiency."

Marshall also told the house foreign affairs committee it "is our feeling" that any assistance to Europe ought to be supplied immediately to keep the supply pipelines filled.

The secretary appeared before the committee for questioning on the administration's foreign spending program as he did yesterday before the senate foreign relations committee. And the questions started out today covering much the same ground as they did yesterday.

Rep. Kee (D-W.Va.) wanted to know about prospective help for China, which Marshall has figured at around $300,000,000 over 15 months. The secretary said the situation is one of "great complexity," that the government wants to "do something helpful," and is trying to develop a program in which funds will be used perhaps with 10 per cent efficiency.

No one asked him immediately why they could not be used with 100 per cent efficiency.

Harriman Backs Aid Plea

While Marshall talked to the house group, Secretary of Commerce Harriman told the senate foreign committee that $597,000,000 in goods can be supplied to France, Italy and Austria as emergency aid without further strain on this nation's economy.

Harriman appeared before the senators to back up the interim aid program proposed by Marshall to meet "real" and "urgent" needs in the three countries before a long range recovery plan is put into effect March 31.

Senator Taft of Ohio, head of the senate Republican policy committee, already has launched a drive to trim the administration's proposals and has picked up support from G.O.P. ranks. He expects to bring the issue to a showdown before the policy committee on Friday.

Taft's abrupt opposition to the $2,657,000,000 estimate by Secretary of State Marshall as the cost of economic help to Europe and China up to next June 30 collided sharply with administration plans for the special session of congress opening next Monday. The White House has been hoping to rush through a $597,000,000 appropriation for emergency aid to France, Italy and Austria.

Taft Gets Support

Taft's declaration that the whole bill is too big brought a quick response from Republican Senator Dworshak of Idaho, who told a reporter he thinks "the United States is spending too much in Europe."

It also prompted a Democratic senator, who asked that his name not be used, to express the hope that Taft will "fight it out" Friday before the GOP policy committee which the Ohioan heads.

It seemed likely to make more difficult Marshall's role in his scheduled appearance today before the house committee.

And it posed the possibility of a split between Taft and Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the senate foreign relations committee over the amount to be made available for overseas economic programs.

Taft told a news conference yesterday he is "absolutely opposed" to spending an additional $2,657,000,000 on foreign aid before June 30.

Although Taft said he wants the emergency aid program to go ahead, he contended that overall outlays ought to be held to the present level of foreign spending.

Two other young Jews were wounded in the encounter, between Raanana and Hezliya.

Military sources at Tel Aviv said four Jews were captured in a raid on the isolated house where the army was tipped the Irgun was conducting "armed exercises."

General's Profit on Bond Deal Aired in Hughes Plane Hearing

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Maj. Gen Bennett E. Meyers told senators today he and his wife netted $90,000 from a $4,000,000 wartime bond deal about which he said he consulted then Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

Morgenthau told him he "didn't see how I could go wrong," Meyers said.

The retired general's story of the transaction came atop contradictory testimony from him and Howard Hughes as to whether Meyers sought a loan from the airplane manufacturer for a bond deal.

Hughes testified Meyers tried to borrow $200,000 to finance a $10,000,000 bond speculation at a time when Meyers, as an air force officer, was negotiating with Hughes on warplane contracts.

Meyers called that a lie. He said Hughes, through an attorney, offered to lend him $250,000, but he refused the loan in indignation.

When Meyers related that he actually made a bond deal, he said he talked about it with Chairman Marriner Eccles of the federal reserve board as well as Morgenthau. He said he believes Eccles told him the same thing Morgenthau did.

Meyers told the committee he probably should have reported to superiors the various offers he says Hughes made to him—the offer of a loan, and of a job, and to give him a house near Los Angeles.

Questioned by Ferguson

That was his reply when Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the senate war investigating subcommittee demanded:

"Now general, I'll ask you why you did not report it (offer of a house near Los Angeles) to higher authority?"

Meyers testified yesterday that the offers were made in late 1943 and early 1944 when Hugnes was negotiating for multimillion dollar airplane contracts.

Meyers at that time was deputy chief of air force procurement and had to pass on the $40,000,000 in contracts given Hughes, wealthy plane designer and movie producer.

The senate committee is inquiring into circumstances of the award of the contracts.

Hughes' own story is that Meyers asked him for a job and for a $200,000 loan, but that he refused.

"Lie," Declares Meyers

Calling that a lie, Meyers told the senators that Hughes' through an attorney offered to lend him $250,000 and he (Meyers) was "very, very indignant."

Ferguson, recalling what Meyers had testified, demanded of the retired general:

"Does not that amount to corruption through an attempt to corrupt an official of the government of the United States?"

"Well, sir," Meyers replied, "I don't know if it was corrupt or not. He wanted me to come to work after the war."

After pressing Meyers for all additional details about the offers he says Hughes made, Ferguson wanted to know:

"Why did you not accept this job and this house so you could write your own ticket?"

(Meyers had testified that Hughes, when offering him first a job during the war and then one when the war ended, had told him he could "write your own ticket" as to salary.)

The general said he had no interest while on active duty, "except winning the war."

"That's the reason you assign to it now," Ferguson said. "As late as a year ago you said you were dickering with him for a job."

Meyers drew himself up in the

DE GAULLE CALLS FOR ANTI-RED ALLIANCE

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 12—Gen. Charles de Gaulle urged France today to take the lead in forming alliances with the United States, Great Britain and other countries "who feel themselves similarly menaced" by communism.

"France must take the initiative because she is the most menaced," the leader of the anti-Communist rally of the French People (RPF) told a news conference.

"France is the most menaced externally, by this enormous power—the most formidable she has ever faced—and internally because, independent of her own force, this power has assistance within France," de Gaulle declared.

The general said that one of the aims of the RPF, which showed surprising strength in France's recent municipal elections, was to foster such a system of alliances as he proposed.

He declared that treaties should be concluded immediately with both the United States and Britain, but that these alliances must be for specific purposes, arrived at as equals.

France, de Gaulle said, must not appear in the role of beggar. On the contrary she must "work in conjunction" with the United States on full equality.

De Gaulle asserted that France must begin at once to organize western Europe for defense, and mentioned specifically the need of closer economic and political ties with Italy.

TRUMAN PLANE GROUNDED PENDING SAFETY CHECKUP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—The White House announced today the grounding of President Truman's plane, a DC-6 named the "Independence."

Eben Ayers, assistant press secretary, said the President's pilot took the action at the request of the Douglas Aircraft Corp., which builds the four-engined planes.

The pilot, Lt. Col. Henry T. (Hank) Myers, said the "Independence" will remain grounded until the company is satisfied that there is no possibility of danger in the use of the ship.

The Douglas company urged all users of the four-engined planes to ground them until causes of recent fires aboard "have been established and eradicated."

Mile-Long Parade Marks City's Observance of Armistice Day

Approximately 800 persons, comprising veterans, auxiliary members, the various civic organizations and members of five bands, participated in the annual Armistice day parade here last night, while a crowd of about 6,000 lined both sides of Center, Vine and Church streets to view the event.

The parade, which extended about a mile, lasted a half hour, and comments from the many spectators termed it one of the best the city has had in recent years. The parade this year was sponsored by the recently organized United Veterans and Civic Council.

As a part of the parade, appropriate ribbons and plaques were awarded, by class, to the units which presented the best marching appearance, the units which had the highest percentage of membership in some formation of the parade, and also to the best bands and floats.

Heading the first unit to pass the judges' stand opposite the courthouse were the colors of Co. C and the Caledonia High school band. They were followed by the Marion police, the state highway patrol, city firemen, city and county officials, Co. C Ohio National Guard and the U. S. Army Recruiting service. The judges commented favorably and praised highly the city police and firemen and Co. C for their appearance and marching. These three groups did not compete in the contests.

Band Leads Division

The Eagles band led the second division which was comprised of all veterans organizations and auxiliaries, and transportation for veterans who were unable to march.

The third division was headed by the Harding High school band, and followed by all civic organizations. The Claridon school band, Boy Scout troops and the Pleasant school band made up the fifth division, and completing the parade were civic and organizational floats.

Awards for the best marching appearances, by class and in the opinion of the judges went to Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, American Legion, the Auxiliary to Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and to Boy Scout Troop 2, sponsored by the Edison School P.-T.A.

For the highest percentage of membership present in some formation of the parade, honors went, by class, to the Navy club, the Porter-Snyder Post No. 605, American Legion of Waldo, Boy Scout Troop No. 5, sponsored by Bird-McGinnis Post, American Legion, and Cub Pack 3, sponsored by Epworth Methodist church. Troop 5, Boy Scouts, had a 100 per cent attendance, and the Cub Pack had 98 per cent of their members present.

Floats Win Prizes

Several floats were made up for the parade to carry out the theme of Armistice day. First honors went to Glenn W. Ashworth Post No. 28, AMVETS, for their likeness of the scene made famous in World War II, the raising of the flag on Iwo Jima. Second award was won by the Marion Navy club with a scene of Davey Jones' locker with King Neptune, Davey Jones and all the assistants with the shipwrecked sailor. A float, sponsored by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co., on which were representatives of the armed forces, won third place.

The Caledonia High school band, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Sallsbury, was rated first in the county band class. The Harding High school band and the Eagles band of Marion had no competition in their class but were given special recognition.

Judges for the parade were Mayor Harry L. Dowler, honorary chairman, Col. Hubert L. Taylor, Major L. H. Burnham of the U. S. Army recruiting station, and E. O. Uncapher, safety-service director, marching units, Carroll W. Davidson, Mrs. Funny Benson and William Dowler bands, and William Risch, Carl Lehner and Luther Mitchell, floats.

Open house programs for members of the various organizations and their friends were held by several veterans organizations following the parade. The Marion Navy club entertained the Pleasant school band members, Bird-McGinnis Post entertained the Harding High school and Claridon bands, and the Caledonia band members were guests of the AMVETS.

Memorial Service

In keeping with the annual custom, Bird-McGinnis Post, assisted by the Marion Navy club and the AMVETS, held a memorial service in the morning at the courthouse. Rev. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Baptist church and chaplain of Bird-McGinnis Post, gave the opening prayer, and a short talk in keeping with the occasion was by Rev. Fr. Elmer H. Boyden, assistant pastor of St. Mary Catholic church. Col. R. E. Copeland, grand marshal for the parade, also gave a talk.

The memorial address was by J. W. Llewellyn, a past commander of the Marion County Post and publicity officer of Bird-McGinnis post. Paying tribute to the fallen heroes, he asked the questions, "Does He Really Rest" and "Is His a Fretful Slumber." If those men who gave their lives could speak today and would ask, "Out of my death did the world get peace, light and life?" the answer would be "no." He also stressed universal military training. Jewell L. Ralston, a past commander, gave the memorial prayer.

Both the address and prayer were broadcast from Station WMRN and given over the loud speaker at the courthouse.

A wreath at the honor roll was laid by Louis V. Dutton of GI Post, and taps were by Morris Kaelber, a student at Harding High school.

The firing squad for the service was from the Navy club, composed of Chief Motor Machinist's Mate Carl Prusnek as captain. Alfred Whittington Harold Haughr, John Coleman, Norval Foreman, Edward Seaton, Gail Miller, Henry Uline and Forest Roush. Color bearers were Edward McAndrews and Dwight Altman.

REUTHER RUNS OUT OPPOSITION IN UAW

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 12—Walter Reuther and Emil Mazey, the fiery No. 1 and No. 2 men of the CIO's United Auto Workers, set about sweeping two more of their political foes out of union office today.

Now it was Vice Presidents R. J. Thomas and Dick Leonard who faced almost certain election defeats as the Reuther faction took full control of the union at its convention here.

Thomas was opposed by Dick Gosser of Toledo. Leonard's opponent later in the day would be John Livingston of St. Louis.

After President Reuther's reelection yesterday, Mazey beat George Addes out of his secretary-treasurer job by a vote of 4,820 to 2,572 in a thunderously noisy election.

The team of Reuther and Mazey brings new militancy into the UAW leadership.

It's true that their triumph is a crushing defeat for the union's small Communist minority, because that group hates Reuther and supports the Addes-Thomas-Leonard faction.

But it is a mistake to think of the UAW political turnover as merely a "swing to the right."

Reuther and Mazey are former Socialist party members. Furthermore they are a couple of the most militant leaders the UAW ever had.

Before the long roll-call vote began, the supporters of Addes, and then those of Mazey, paraded around the convention hall shouting, singing, banging wash tubs, brandishing placards.

EUROPEAN AID MESSAGE DUE

Truman To Speak Before Joint Session of House and Senate Monday.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—President Truman will deliver to a joint session of congress in person Monday a message calling for stop-gap European relief aid and for inflation curbs at home.

The White House said Mr. Truman will speak to members of the house and senate in the house of representatives chamber at 1:30 p. m.

Mr. Truman is continuing a round of conferences with representatives of industry, agriculture and labor as he and his staff work on the special message.

The President called in M. W. Thatcher of St. Paul, Minn., president of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives, and other representatives of this group. He also had an appointment with Earl O. Shreven, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Philip Murray, CIO president.

He talked earlier in the week with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and on Monday with Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the discussions have been concerned with the whole food situation and aid to Europe.

Ross said he has no idea of the length of the President's speech to congress Monday, that it is still in the early draft stages.

The decision to address the joint session Monday was announced after an agreement with congressional leaders.

Ross said Mr. Truman will hold his regular weekly news conference at 4 p. m. (EST) tomorrow.

Brighter Future for World Pictured by C. of C. Speaker

America and the world are on the threshold of a new era in transportation which will make for a better understanding among peoples and nations, strengthen economic security and hope for peace and provide a backlog against depression, Josh Lee of Washington, D. C., told an audience of 170 persons last night at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Lee, a member of the civil aeronautics board and an authority on aviation, was the guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. His subject was "Aviation and a Brave New World."

Marion, which stepped into the aviation field by approving the establishment of a city airport, recently was granted TWA airline service by the civil aeronautics board.

The occasion marked the thirty-first annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Harvey T. Gracely, president of the Marion Power Shovel Co. and toastmaster for the evening, stated in opening the program which was preceded by a dinner. Wives and friends of the members were guests.

J. B. Bray introduced the speaker who served his state of Oklahoma in congress, both in the house and senate, for nearly 10 years before becoming a member of the civil aeronautics board in 1943. In the humorous preface to his talk the audience learned that before becoming a congressman Mr. Lee taught in country schools, served overseas in World War I, was head of the speech department at the University of Oklahoma and more recently is the author of a book, "How To Hold an Audience Without a Rope."

Cites Growth of Aviation

Citing the fact that more and more people are taking advantage of flying he pointed out that the airplane has made the world one community. "South America," he said, "is down the street and China and India are just around the corner." The saving of time through speed will not only provide opportunity for broader travel but will prove a boon commercially to both the rural and the city dweller in their exchange of production and commodities, he continued.

Calling attention to the fact that the new form of transportation ignores shore lines, mountain ranges and other surface barriers he emphasized the advantages to be gained not only by the people of the United States but the world through the speedy and practical development of commercial flying. Safety, he pointed out, is a part of the business of the

EDWIN D. YOUNG SEARCH MADE ON LONG TRAIL

Gasoline Cards Used by Him Mark Path of Flight to Western States.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has taken over the hunt for Edwin Demoine Young, 39, wanted here on a first degree murder charge in connection with the July 11 church-yard slaying of Mrs. Zora H. Gerbes.

Sheriff LeRoy Retterer has been able to trace Young's flight through five states until the man dropped from sight in Springfield, Colo. The fugitive's path was marked by a chain of filling stations at which he used a Standard Oil company courtesy card for purchase of gasoline. With definite proof that Young has fled the Federal Bureau has acted to take up the trail from that point.

Reward Request Denied Again

Sheriff Retterer last Thursday again approached the county commissioners with a request for a $500 reward to be posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer. The request was again denied.

However, on a new batch of "flyers" being sent to all the states and to the registrars of motor vehicles in all states west of the Mississippi, a reward of $200 is being carried, with the sheriff and County Prosecutor James E. Reed each having put up $100. There is a possibility that additional reward money will be forthcoming through the parents of the slain woman, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kellis of 109 Lee street, the sheriff said.

When FBI Began Hunt

Sheriff Retterer revealed that the FBI entered the case on Sept. 15 when the courtesy card trail led to Colorado. The card, No. SL-6-16 was held by the Hall Trucking company of Marion for whom Young had worked as driver of a limestone hauling truck. Harry Hall, owner, tipped off the sheriff July 25 that one of his cards was missing, and that Young may have had it.

An alarm sent out by the Standard Oil company to all distributors resulted in a check of cards honored since July 11 which revealed the path Young had taken in his flight.

The fugitive had used the courtesy card a total of 16 times from July 11 to July 19, the trail leading north from Marion into Illinois, skirting Chicago, down into Iowa and Missouri then west through Kansas into Colorado.

End of Card Trail

The trail suddenly ended at Springfield, Colorado, where Young had apparently used the card for the last time to fill the tank of his little blue Chevrolet coupe of 1933 vintage, complete with red wheels and extra headlamps. Springfield is near the western part of the state in the foothills of the Rockies near the Utah and New Mexico border. Here identification is customarily sought when transients pass over the state line into these two states.

The sheriff expressed the idea that Young may have feared identification, for the gas card was used twice at Springfield, once before and once after it had been used at Durango, the last "tank town" before Highway 66 branches into Utah and New Mexico. The second Springfield usage was on July 19. But the information did not reach Marion county authorities until after dealers had sent in their reports to the company. They in turn were forwarded to Marion, delaying knowledge of Young's flight until Sept. 11, exactly two months after the 25-year-old mother of three children was strangled to death in the yard of St. Paul's Lutheran church about five miles southeast of Marion on Route 98.

Meanwhile a close watch is being kept for evidence that Young may be communicating with relatives here in the east. Mrs. Lillian Young, his invalid wife, returned to her family in New Philadelphia, O. shortly after Young disappeared. Her mail and that of Young's brother, Henry, also of New Philadelphia, has been watched constantly. A report has been sent weekly of all letters postmarked from points that might indicate a contact, by New Philadelphia Postmaster Charles W. Kaiser.

So far nothing has turned up, Sheriff Retterer reported, although several letters postmarked outside of the state and addressed to members of the family were checked as the search is still being pressed both by the sheriff's office here and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. No definite reports have been given by the FBI since they entered the case but this is not considered unusual, the sheriff pointed out, as that body customarily completed its job before letting out any information.

Challenge Filed In Homecoming Queen Election at O. S. U.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—Another chapter in the hectic Ohio State university homecoming queen election should unfold today before the student court.

Tom Rose, president of the Ohio Students' Party Associated, which represents most of the fraternities and sororities, expected to ask the student senate this afternoon to declare the election null and void on technicality.

Rose announced his intentions after the court yesterday penalized an OSPA candidate, Virginia Adams, 21, of East Palestine, 470 votes because OSPA spent more than the $15 limit in backing her candidacy.

Miss Adams, however, was among the six finalists. The others are Lois Byrd, 20, of Columbus, Gloria Smith, 20, of Portsmouth, Marjorie Winter, 19, of Akron, Dorothy Kahn, 18, of University Heights, and Kathy Lewis, 21, of Shaker Heights.

The co-ed who polled the highest number of votes in Monday's election will be crowned at a homecoming dance on the campus next Friday, under present plans.

Rose challenged the election on the grounds that a committee designated to screen nominating petitions had only four members, instead of the five required by senate rules.

PAINTER WHO GYPPED EXPERTS SENTENCED

By The Associated Press

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 12—Hans Van Meegeren, 57, a Dutch artist, was sentenced today to prison for one year by a Dutch court which convicted him of fraud for faking and selling eight paintings signed with the names of old masters—pictures which fooled world art experts.

The prosecution, which charged that Van Meegeren's proceeds from sales of the cleverly faked paintings amounted to approximately $2,800,000, had asked a two-year sentence. Buyers included Hermann Goering and the Rotterdam museum.

Van Meegeren acknowledged that he had signed the names of such old masters as Vermeer and Pieter de Hooch to his paintings, but he pleaded innocent to fraud. The trial, held on Oct. 29, put on record one of the most dramatic art scandals of modern times.

Internationally recognized experts in the field of art had certified the authenticity of the paintings before chemical and X-ray tests proved they could not be what they purported to be—masterpieces of some of the greatest 17th century artists.

Van Meegeren said he had painted the pictures, not for the money, but to prove to the world that he was a great painter.

MODEL PLANE CLUB OPENS NEW SEASON

First Meeting Is Held at Y Craftsman Room.

The first meeting of the winter season was held by the Marion Prop Busters club Monday night in the craftsman room at the Y.M.C.A. The room was recently procured for the club by the Y's Men's club, sponsors of the modelers club.

A trophy was presented to Robert Parsell for the highest time of any single flight made by a rubber powered model during the summer's activities. The presentation was made by R. D. Blank, director of the club.

High point winners for the summer season's flying were also announced as follows: Frederick Schatzinger, first, Robert Parsell, second and Jack Vail, third. The points were accumulated by the members through the summer flying activities, and prizes are to be awarded in the near future. Last year, the high point winners were awarded a trip to the national model plant meet in Wichita, Kan.

As a part of the winter's activities, members of the club are scheduling control line stunt flying to be held each Sunday afternoon that weather permits, at Lincoln ball park. It will be in the form of contests and the public is invited to watch the events.

Educational discussions on the building of model aircraft and the flying of these craft are to be held at future meetings. Membership in the club is open to anyone interested in building model planes. At present, the club has 22 active members and Everett Sanderson is president. Meetings in the future will be held the first and last Monday of each month at 7:30 p. m. in the craftsman room at the Y.

Summer activities of the club ended with the model plane meet which was held Sept. 14 at the Marion municipal airport and termed a success by the club and its sponsor.

$500.00 Wage Loss At Galion, Rotary Hears

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 12—Carl J. Gugler, Galion attorney, spoke Monday to the Rotary club at Hotel Talbott, a guest with R. K. McBerty, vice president of the North Electric Manufacturing Company, and Ray Nymberg, sales manager for the Hercules Steel Products Corporation.

Gugler gave a history of the North Electric Company in Galion. He refuted the charges of unfairness to labor at the plant. He pointed out that Congressman Clare E. Hoffman (R) of Michigan, in his investigation here, said that the North Electric company is paying wages which are higher than the minimum wages proposed in the bill to be introduced in the next session of congress. He also mentioned unfairness of the Wagner Act. He told of extortion practices by the unions during the building of the Scioto and Shelby Ordnance plants in this area during the war.

Purposes of the Taft-Hartley bill, Gugler said, were to define "the legitimate rights of both employes and employers," and to protect the rights of individual employes and protect the rights of the public. He said that as far as the local strike is concerned, the loss to emloyes, in wages, was estimated at $500,000. The average loss to a individual was four to five hundred dollars, Gugler estimated. He said the strike in Galion was a test of the Taft-Hartley bill.

Speaking briefly, McBerty charged that the UAW-CIO was going to organize other Galion industries. He said that if the city administration and sheriff's office are not able to maintain law and order in Galion during this organizing effort, Galion will be at the mercy of the same element which caused the violence in the North Electric strike.

ELIZABETH DAIRY CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Officers for the new year were elected when the Elizabeth Dairy class of the First Presbyterian church met Monday night with Mrs. Richard Kester of 595 South Prospect street. Mrs. E. M. Breithaupt served as assistant hostess.

Mrs. John Gries conducted devotions from the 147th Psalm, and members responded to roll call with verses from the book of Hebrews. Plans were made for the white gift service to be held at the church at Christmas.

For the program, Mrs. L. E. Cookston presented a paper, "The Transmission of the New Testament," and a discussion followed. Mrs. P. L. Felder was welcomed as a new member, and Mrs. Myrtle Davis of Uhrichsville was a guest. A social hour followed the meeting and the guessing box was won by Mrs. J. H. Andrews.

Behlen Forced-Draft DEHYDRATOR, Ventilators and Tunnels

Have you checked your cribbed corn recently? Much of this last crop has been found to contain too much moisture and is in grave danger of heating and spoiling, when thawing starts.

Now you can dry your corn—quickly, easily, inexpensively—in the crib or on the ground.

The Behlen Forced-Draft Dehydrator forces 5 thousand cubic feet of air, heated to 200 degrees, through the corn every minute. Motor or tractor power. Burns distillate or kerosene. Dries shelled corn and small grain, too. Many farmers using it.

Let us tell you all about this amazing and valuable new machine—and also the Behlen All-Steel Ventilators and Tunnels. They may save you far more than their cost this very season alone.

BLIGHTED URBAN AREAS PROBLEM BEFORE C. OF C.

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 12 — The problem of blighted urban areas will be brought before the 54th annual meeting of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce here Nov. 19-20, President C. I. Weaver said today.

Weaver said that the issue is one of the most critical problems facing the larger American communities. Blighted areas, he added, contribute far less than their share to the support of the community and absorb more than their quota of community service, including fire and police protection.

Two speakers with wide experience in urban rehabilitation problems will present their viewpoints and experiences in rebuilding blighted districts at the chamber meeting. They are Otto K. Jensen, executive secretary of the Indianapolis redevelopment commission, and W. Ray Skirvin, Cincinnati attorney and a member of the Cincinnati Metropolitan housing authority since November, 1941.

HINTS DECISION DUE ON GALION POWER

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 12—Mayor William Amann made rather a strong inference yesterday that one or the other of two bids received for outside power to supplement the supply generated by the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant, would be accepted. The mayor's indication of his decision came at a meeting in his office Tuesday afternoon with H. J. Rosson, consulting engineer for the city.

Some 20 or 25 interested citizens, included representatives of industry, civic organizations, newly elected city officials, and the Citizens Advisory committee, practically squeezed into the mayor's office to hear Rosson's recommendation on the power bids.

Rosson was questioned rather closely on what position the city would take on the power situation. Mayor Amann said that since the newly elected council wants additional power from an outside utility, that "we might as well proceed in that direction. Looks like the diesel is out."

Contract for the purchase of a diesel which has been underway by council, has brought much criticism from manufacturers of the city. Legality of the purchase of the diesel has been questioned by Attorney Kenneth M. Petri, and he has indicated that if its purchase goes through, he will file a taxpayers' suit. Petri's charges have been that bids for the purchase were not properly advertised.

Two power companies, the Ohio Public Service company, and the Ohio Power company, submitted the only offers to furnish supplemental electric energy for the city of Galion when bids were opened on Oct. 20.

MARION ENGINEERS MEET IN DELAWARE

M. P. Brokaw, regional highway engineer for the Portland Cement association and a registered engineer in the state of Wisconsin, was the principal speaker at a dinner meeting of the Marion Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers held at Buns restaurant in Delaware Monday night. His subject was "Air Entrained Cement and Concrete."

He said that "Air entrained concrete is one of the greatest discoveries of modern time and a real boon to present road construction. This method was not found by research in a laboratory but by chance, due to a study of certain roads in New York state constructed by a blend of regular and clay cement which did not scale as neighboring roads poured with regular cement.

Mr. Brokaw augmented his talk with slides of graphs plotted from experiments in the laboratory between the regular and air entrained concrete, where samples were given a cycle of freeze and thaw, which definitely proved that air entrained concrete is "far superior to the regular."

Following the slides, he showed colored movies entitled "Express Highways."

After the dinner a short business meeting was called by Charles Whysall, president, who read the names of the officers nominated for next year. A report was given by R. N. Ricketts on the November meeting of the Ohio Trustees group, and Lloyd Chacey, executive secretary of the Ohio society, gave a short talk on matters of interest to the Marion chapter.

Five different versions of the Gettysburg address were written or spoken by Lincoln.

The High Cost of Giveaway

SENATOR TAFT'S reservations to the Marshall plan are shared widely. Americans have no objections to helping Europeans, Asiatics, Africans, or Indonesians, but they have sturdy objections to being played for suckers. In view of high taxes carried over from wartime, with no relief in sight, the high cost of giveaway is becoming painfully evident. The issue—as the Truman administration will find out presently—is not whether to help Europeans or disregard them; it is whether or not the Truman administration can command enough confidence to give away another 20 billion dollars.

Many Americans share Senator Taft's doubts about the relationship between peacetime lend-lease and the fight against dictatorship; about the relationship between this new variety of giveaway and the partisan politics of next year's national election. There is nothing new about the Marshall plan, after all except its provision for subsidizing exports to Europe with public money. Until the doctrine of lend-lease was pulled out of a hat before World War II, it was customary to expect repayment for such exports even in wartime. They have been traditionally the key to high employment, high wages and high prices, whether used in relation to the old-fashioned system of trade balances, or the new-fashioned system of ideological balances.

The Marshall plan undoubtedly will be accepted in principle. The question will be cost. Other Americans besides Senator Taft will wonder why it will take 20 billion dollars, instead of 15. They will wonder if it might be done for 10. Twenty billion figures out to approximately $150 for each man, woman and child. In a country whose prices are soaring, that's money most citizens could apply with pleasure to their own expenses. Perhaps the job could be done for $75 apiece, or in a pinch for $50. That will be showdown issue on the Marshall plan.

Rebuilding Germany

CONTINUING his analysis of what must be done to revive Europe, Secretary Marshall says it is essential that Germany be restored to the point where it is self-supporting. This is in line with the Harriman committee's advice on rebuilding Germany.

German recovery has been loudly opposed by Nazi victims, particularly the French. Russia and Communists throughout western Europe picture a reconstructed Germany as a spearhead aimed against Russia. They want Germany made over into an agrarian state along the lines suggested by Henry Morgenthau.

Yet to speed its own recovery, Europe needs the German industrial machine, its technical know-how and the products of the Ruhr operating at capacity. Not the least of our tasks in Europe will be to convince Germany's victims of this; and their vigilance and ours will have to prove that Germany can be industrially strong without being militarily dangerous.

In encouraging the industrial revival of Germany, we shall have our motives impugned by the Russians and their friends. But of necessity a self-supporting Europe must include a self-supporting Germany.

Forcing the Issue

THE trouble looming ahead between the Musicians' union and recording companies will be cleared up more rapidly because the union is forcing the issue on other fronts. An example is the cooperatively-sponsored network radio program which has dispensed with the services of a pianist rather than pay him $9,546 for a half-hour broadcast.

Arbitrary rules and make-work practices can be extended just so far before reaction sets in. By making demands impossible of fulfillment the union creates no sympathy for its cause, increases the likelihood of restrictive legislation and brings the day of black-market music nearer.

Yes, mechanical methods of reproducing music are here to stay, just as the automobile is, even though for a while some blacksmiths were unhappy about it.

The Weakness of "The Week"

LABOR Secretary Schwellenbach says he is sick and tired of "weeks." Meeting with the President's committee on national "Employ the Physically Handicapped" week, he said he had helped sponsor three such weeks and they had produced good results—for one week. People get steamed up and hire physically handicapped workers but as soon as the week's over employment drops to the old level.

The American mania for "weeks" has gone so far they no longer produce lasting results—if indeed they ever did. The "week" idea has become worn out like the word "warmonger" in UN meetings.

If a meritorious week like that for the physically handicapped isn't successful, there is only one thing to do: make it "employ the physically handicapped year."

Special Session Drama

By Mark Sullivan

New U. S. Attitude Seen as Revolutionary.

WASHINGTON

WHEN President Truman called the special session of congress that begins Monday, his action was described as dramatic. So it was. And the coming session itself will be dramatic, not merely for what goes on in it but because it is a landmark in the country's history. During eight months since last March the United States, in its relation to the world, has passed through a revolution; and the purpose of the special session is to act upon the nation's changed status. The revolution can be outlined in three dates and steps that took place on them.

March 12. President Truman, in a message to congress, announced: "The United States has received from the Greek government an urgent appeal for financial and economic assistance . . . Assistance is imperative if Greece is to survive as a free nation."

By that, President Truman announced that the United States would accept responsibility for the continued existence of a European nation, Greece. This step, standing alone, was itself revolutionary. We had long had a policy of supporting the independence of nations on the American continent, now we extended that policy to European nations.

Britain Was Retiring

President Truman's announcement should be read in the light of an interesting simultaneous event, retirement by Britain from support of Greece. As the United States was taking on world responsibility, Britain was retiring from it. This coincidence, while dramatic and significant, should not be misread. It is not relevant to our changed status. We were not extending our responsibility in the sense of becoming an empire, as Britain had been. Our new status was not that of empire, and Russia's charges that it is are a characteristic falsehood.

June 15. Under Secretary of State Acheson, in a speech at Wesleyan university, told why our new policy was forced upon us. The previous month he had said that the American people must understand "the facts of international life." At Wesleyan he said: "The recovery of Europe has been long delayed—tragically long . . . by the Soviet Union's pursuit of policies diametrically opposed to the very premises of international accord . . ."

The "facts of international life" meant that neither we nor the world could rely upon what we had previously assumed. It had been assumed that the political independence of nations, such as Greece, would be assured by a world organization, the United Nations. We now knew that this could not be, because Russia made international accord impossible. Russia did not want one world in the sence we had assumed, what Russia wanted was a Communist world. It was Russia that was responsible for the condition in Greece that made it necessary for us to support her independence.

Marshall's Speech

While President Truman, in his March statement of our new policy, did not use the word "Russia," he did say "Communists." His statement said: "The very existence of the Greek state is today threatened by the terroristic activities of several thousand armed men, led by Communists . . ." A few weeks later, April 5, Mr. Truman said: "We have witnessed atrocious violation of the rights of nations . . ."

June 5 Secretary of State Marshall, in a speech at Harvard University, took account of what had become plain. The Russian wish and purpose to Communize Greece was duplicated, in various ways, as respects the countries of western Europe. All were in distress. It was plain that Russia wished them to continue in distress, the effect of which would make their peoples susceptible to Communism and Russian domination. To help these nations resist, it was desirable that they, and the world as a whole, be made economically healthy.

Secretary Marshall said: "It is logical that the United States should do whatever it is able to do to assist in the return of normal economic health in the world, without which there can be no political stability and no assured peace."

In pursuit of that policy Secretary Marshall suggested that the countries of Europe work out a unified master-plan for co-operation among themselves and for the maximum use of their resources, so that thereafter assistance from us could be effective.

Purpose of Session

Immediately, Russia showed its hand. It refused to join in any plan of cooperation, it warned Britain and France not to attempt such a plan and in the crudest fashion forbade any of its satellite nations to participate.

Sixteen nations went on with the Marshall plan. At the same time Russia intensified its efforts to get the European nations, especially France and Italy, Communized before the Marshall plan could get into operation. Its methods included taking advantage of economic distress and promoting it.

This brings us to the coming session of congress. Its purpose, as bearing on our new relation to the world, is double. First, immediate funds for food and fuel to relieve distress, especially in France and Italy, so that those peoples may not succumb to the intensified drive by Russia to get them Communized at once. Second, to take presently necessary steps looking to supplying the future aid to carry on the Marshall plan for long-range restoration of Europe to economic health.

Just a Minute

And Every Ban a Boost

The cinema version of "Forever Amber" is reported setting box office records in movie houses across the nation.

Everywhere, these days, the storry is the same: The wages of sin are good.

"Forever Amber" is a technicolor sextravaganza which, according to those who have had the advanced prices to see it, follows the novel's heroine unfaithfully from pillow to perdition. It is, in short, the first acid test of the new flame-proof celluloid.

It boasts a number of outstanding attractions, including Linda Darnell, Cornel Wilde and the disapproval of several religious leaders.

Nor has the producer assuaged its box-office appeal by warning movie operators not to leave it stored overnight near their popcorn bins.

It is just a question of time, of course, until "Forever Amber" comes under the scrutiny of Rep. Parnell Thomas and his committee, they having declared their intention of investigating all films which even hint of undercover activity.

Setback for Socialism

By Raymond Moley

THE British municipal elections, which were swept by the Conservative party, once more illustrate a principle in judging political trends which is often baffling to the amateur observer. In this case, the bafflement is occasioned by the fact that this election should have turned out so many Socialists, since Labor has not lost a single seat to the Conservatives in the parliamentary by-elections since the general election in 1945.

In answer to Churchill's demand that the Labor government get out and permit a general election, the Labor party spokesmen claim that the by-elections show that they still hold the confidence of the people.

Not Exactly Correct

A fair interpretation of the facts, however, does not sustain the Labor argument. A study of the by-elections since 1945 shows a definite decline in the Labor majorities in the various constituencies concerned. The by-elections held in 1945 and 1946 showed that an over-all Labor majority of 38% of the vote in the general election fell to 11% in the by-elections. Similar comparisons in the by-elections this year are not available, but in one of the most recent and best known—in London't Edgehill—a Labor majority of 66,000 in 1945 was cut to 2,000 in September.

If, as the figures seem to indicate, the hold of Labor on the voters has been slipping for two years, it is not surprising that the decline is now at a much more rapid rate.

Usually Underestimated

The professional in politics knows that, once a trend is established, it does not, when drawn on a chart, run in a straight decline. It describes a rapidly increasing curve. People who guess at the results of an election may be right about the outcome, but almost invariably they underestimate the size of the final majority. Even as good a judge of his own fortunes as Franklin D. Roosevelt generally underestimated his majorities.

Hence, the municipal elections in England and Wales may well mean that the voters have been deserting the Labor party in very large numbers in the past month. This is not strange. A winter of discontent is coming on. Food and fuel are scarcer. The king's speech was not cheering. The attack on the house of lords was made, no doubt, because the Labor government wanted to show that it was still radical. But hungry people cannot eat dispossessed lords. They are concerned with economic aid, not with constitutional reform.

Just a Sliver

One sliver of Labor hope can be derived from the municipal elections. Half the borough councillors whose positions were at stake in these elections were elected before 1939. Local elections were suspended during the war. The other half were elected in 1945 for two years. Since it is an old principle that in most cases the longer a group has been in office, the more unpopular it becomes, the mortality among these people is not strange. If Labor can prove that its major losses were among the older members and not among those elected two years ago, it can strengthen its resistance to Churchill's attack.

If, however, the parliamentary by elections start to displace Labor members as the winter sets in, it is hard to see how the Labor government can lives until spring.

To Price Control or Not

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT HARRY S. TRUMAN must sometimes feel a little like the unhappy apple-sorter whose job drove him insane because he had to make so many decisions. For in this autumn of decision, still another decision—and this one is loaded with political dynamite—is now confronting the worried President. Sometime before next Monday, when the special session of congress meets, he must decide whether to risk congressional wrath by asking for a kind of cutrate OPA or whether to propose much milder medicine and hope for the best.

When the President called congress into special session, he spoke firmly of the urgent need for effective measures to head off the threat of uncontrolled inflation. Yet the fact is that neither the President nor his advisers knew then what measures he would propose in his opening message to congress. And although innumerable conferences have since been held, innumerable memoranda written, they still do not know. With the Monday deadline looming close, the conference-holding and memoranda-writing is now reaching a somewhat feverish crescendo. Yet as of this writing, nothing like a final decision has been taken.

An area of agreement has been reached. But a larger and more vital area of disagreement still exists. Those chiefly concerned are the White House aides, like Clark Clifford and John Steelman, the members of Dr. Edwin Nourse's council of economic advisers, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson, Secretary of the Interior Julius Krug, Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman, and their advisers and economists.

Almost all those concerned with the price issue are convinced that the whole intricate paraphernalia of price control on everything from diapers to piccolos, on the old OPA pattern, is dead beyond resurrection. There is also general agreement that allocation and export controls, plus credit controls, are essential. But here the area of agreement ends. For a number of the experts insist that if the job abroad is to be done, and a really disastrous inflation at home is to be avoided, some limited form of price control is urgently essential. It is argued that if the prices of a few basic commodities—food, especially wheat and meat, and basic industrial products, especially steel—are frozen, the whole economy can be brought in balance.

On the Other Side

The lines have not hardened, but the chief opponents of this school of thought are reported to be Agriculture Secretary Clinton Anderson and presidential aide John Steelman. They have received some ammunition from the reports of two of the ablest officials of the dead and gone OPA, James Brownlee and Henry Hart, whom Secretary Harriman has brought back to Washington to study the practical possibilities of reviving limited price control. For it is argued that the record of OPA clearly demonstrated that the national economy can no more stay a little bit price controlled than the lady in the joke could stay a little bit pregnant. One controlled price inevitably leads to another.

The proponents of price control argue, however, that the OPA parallel is misleading. They point out that during the war years half the national economy was devoted to war production, whereas now 90 per cent is producing goods for civilian use. Thus limited price control measured in a few basic segments of the economy can check the threatening inflation. But if these measures are not taken, the pressure will continue to mount ominously, augmented by the failure of the winter wheat crop and a new round of wage demands to catch up with the mounting cost of living. This, the price controllers argue, might spell real disaster, both at home and abroad.

Economic And Political

These, too briefly, are the economic arguments. There are also political arguments. On the one hand, it is asserted that if the President proposed any form of price control, however limited, to the Eightieth congress, he would be smartly slapped down. Moreover, this slapping process might crack wide open the carefully constructed bipartisan foreign policy structure.

On the other hand, the price controllers argue that congress cannot afford to disregard the angry mutterings of the housewives. If the Republican congress refused to go along with a price control program, the albatross of responsibility for the galloping inflation which would surely ensue could be firmly fixed around the Republican party's neck. Moreover, unless inflation is controlled, the whole program of aid to Europe might as well as written off anyway.

Obviously the decision must rest in the end with the President himself. It is as important, and as difficult, a decision as he has been called upon to make. His message to congress next Monday will show how he has decided. But it will be months before it will be possible to know for certain whether he has decided wisely.

Italy Makes Progress Repairing Railroads

By The Associated Press

ROME — Italian industry has constructed 8,124 railway freight cars and repaired some 16,000 passenger coaches, freight and baggage cars since the war, statistics show.

Available rolling stock now comprises 67,000 freight cars, 2,250 steam locomotives, 1,000 electric locomotives and 235 electric and gasoline-powered coaches.

Considerable progress has also been made in repairing and improving tracks, the report said, and it is expected by the end of this year to have the Milan-Florence-Rome, Rome-Naples-Battipaglia Rome-Genoa-Turin and Milan-Turin routes completely double-tracked.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Study of Taxes, Did You Say!

A citizens' committee has made a study of the income tax and made a report to congress. Only in the latter respect is this new. Millions of Americans have been studying it for years, and have found their study is no good unless accompanied by a check.

• • •

The committee favors changes. This makes it unanimous.

• • •

The report favors a cut all around. It asks for a little mercy on all levels. The usual objection is being made that this would include the big taxpayer. It is held to be his own fault if he makes money. He should be taught not to be a chronic offender.

• • •

The President to name the committee. His job was to take the skin and pulp out of the lemon squeezer and determine if there was unnecessary roughness.

• • •

The President could have studied the income tax himself but he preferred to get his nervous breakdown in some easier way.

• • •

Taxes have been heaped on the American citizen until the only difference between a dollar and a snowflake is that the snowflake has crystals and lasts a little longer with favorable weather conditions.

• • •

Nobody writes success stories in the Horatio Alger mood any more. It is the same as confessing publicly that you are behind the eight ball. Life has become a succession of notary publics, printed forms, confusing paragraphs, dotted lines, galloping decimal points, double talk in fine print and the annual discovery you might have broken even if it had not been for the fact you did well financially.

• • •

The old American tendency toward thrift is sunk. When you stuff money in a sock you are merely checking it overnight.

• • •

It means nothing to begin life on a shoestring any more. You wind up in second-hand button shoes, both for the same foot.

• • •

Taxes have become as routine as rain. You are taxed for the alarm clock that wakes you up, taxed on the shaving soap and the razor blades, taxed on the bath fixtures, taxed on the Turkish towels, taxed on the pajamas which you hop out of to get into the heavily-taxed business suit, taxed on the breakfast dishes and taxed on the commutation ticket to the office.

• • •

If you are sick you are taxed on the phone call to the boss. If you take a drink to drown your troubles you are taxed on that. There is a tax on the liver pad, and on the gas you use to drive to the drugstore for it. If you try to forget it all through a poker game there is a tax on the cards and chips. And if you think you can find a little laughter at a movie there is a tax on that.

• • •

For over 150 years our legislators and leaders imposed a tax with caution and apprehension. Holding a constituent's head under water was thought to be held poor tactics. But that's all over. A politician of today thinks nothing of telling the voters he is endowing them with a happy future while going through their pants pockets.

• • •

Remember when the newsboy who rose to be a financial giant would boast about it? Look at him now! The poor halibut wishes he had the paper route back. And not too many customers.

Winston Churchill admits to a yen to lead orchestras. He is pretty good even when playing second fiddle.

This is the Horse Show season, and its big appeal to many people, it seems to us, is in its reflection of a bygone less hectic and gentler era. There is something lovely in a fine horse, a kinship known down through ages. A man can go to a Horse Show and be whisked for a few hours from the world of traffic jams, snarling drivers, hot brakes, grinding gears and general incivility. It takes him back to a time when, thanks to Dobbin, a man could wait at a busy cross street, give the fellow man a break in traffic and occasionally say, "Whoa"" instead of "Whatzammatah with ya? Doncha know how to drive?"

Unaccustomed As I Am . . .

By Truman Twill

Some of our best friends are public speakers. It is nothing they have said or done that is responsible for our feeling that public speaking is a blight on the bright flower of civilization and should be eradicated with rotenone and shotgun slugs, if necessary. As individuals, they are blameless.

But as representatives of the growing minority of public speakers in this country they are black with guilt. They are part of a movement that is spreading chaos in this country faster than it can be sorted out by human reason. Public speaking and the carrying of concealed weapons should be controlled for the public good.

No person should be permitted to make a public speech without certificate of necessity obtained only upon payment of $50, which would automatically eliminate 99 out of 100 public speeches, because they aren't worth that much to the chairman of the program committee. He can get an obsolete movie, or a trained bird act for that kind of money.

This would be called interference with freedom of speech, but it would be nothing more dangerous to constitutional liberty than assertion of the public's right also to have freedom from speech, an inalienable right that was left out of the Constitution because the founding founders couldn't know how things were going to turn out.

They did not foresee there would come a time when Americans hardly would be able to get through another day without having a public speech inflicted on them, either as an accompaniment of the organized feeding which is known variously as luncheon, banquet, dinner and so on, or piped in through a living room period piece.

They knew nothing about the coming of the public address system that ferrets out the victims of public-speakers where they have taken refuge in houses, barrooms and cool spots under trees. They did not dream of the transcription that reincarnates public speeches minutes, hours, even years, after the speakers have gone to bed, on to the next stop, or to their eternal reward.

Had they heard all this coming as they pondered the solemn problems of building a nation of hamburger joints and cracker-box dwellings where once was a nice, green wilderness, they would have wanted to protect the public weal from public wails. They would have limited public speaking to one speech per speaker per month and would have set up other safeguards against the irresponsible stereotyping of addlepatedness by blabbermouths willing to do anything for a little creamed chicken with perhaps a cash payment in advance.

In words of fewer syllables, someone has asked Truman Twill to make a public speech and the dope has been trying to explain for the umpteenth time why the answer is still No.

"FISHING" SEEN IN BOMB STORY

Washington Suspects Russian Reports as Quest for Military Information.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Many of the strange dispatches and thunderous speeches about atom bombs coming out of Europe strike official Washington as primarily Russian-inspired fishing expeditions for military information.

Also involved, well informed authorities said privately today, is propaganda, intended for local Russian consumption as well as for the "cold war" of nerves.

Terming the fishing technique an old standby in military intelligence, these authorities said it works like this:

A rumor is planted at a point where it will be picked up by some newspaper, magazine or radio station. The idea is to get the rumor into circulation and then see whether it is denied or confirmed.

In the published denial or confirmation by any official of another power, the rumor-planter hopes to glean information.

Information That's Sought

In the case of the A-bomb, for instance, Russia would like to know:

1. How much the United States knows about Russian progress or lack of progress toward producing an atom bomb. (In the spy trade, this is "counter intelligence.")

2. Any hint of United States progress in improving its own bombs.

3. Whether the United States or any other power has a workable method of detecting an atomic bomb test explosion that might be made in some hidden corner of the world.

In a military intelligence fishing expedition, the idea is to plant the rumor where it will be stumbled on by publications not necessarily friendly to the source.

The instance of the dispatch printed yesterday by the Paris newspaper L'Intransigeant was cited as an example. The dispatch —telling of a purported test explosion of a 12½-pound atomic bomb near the Russian city of Irkutsk—came to L'Intransgeant from Prague where it was reported to have arrived through "confidential sources" from Moscow.

Another Report in July

The same paper last July quoted unidentified sources as saying the United States had tested a new and powerful bomb which blew a crater 1,700 feet deep in New Mexico.

Because of the difference in the two situations, the atomic energy commission denied the July story but coldly ignored yesterday's report.

Authorities here were inclined to view the recent Moscow speech of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov as designed chiefly for propaganda purposes, but with the hope that it, too, might produce some official reaction in Washington that would be useful for military intelligence analysis.

board. The year 1946, he said, was 100 per cent safer than the year before and added, "but that is not enough; safety is still an important factor in the development of aviation."

Question for People

In discussing post-war problems he said the answer can be found by each person asking "am I going to be a part of the problem or a part of the solution?" Styling himself an optimist, the speaker said he saw no need to have a depression. "We have all the natural resources, an abundance of capital, a super abundance of the best labor to be found and we have the greatest backlog of consumer production in the world. There is going to be plenty to buy and if we are courageous there will be plenty to sell."

We are on the verge of great prosperity here and throughout the world, he predicted, and this can become a reality if we grasp the opportunity to build, invent and produce. "And as we trade with the peoples of the world we shall know them better, as we know them better there will come a better understanding and that understanding will prolong the spirit of peace in the world," he declared.

President Introduced

Preceding Mr. Lee's talk the toastmaster introduced Robert T. Mason, recently reelected president of the Chamber of Commerce and the board of directors.

The invocation was spoken by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and dinner music was by Frederick Lacey who also accompanied Miss Maxine Unland for a vocal number, "The World Is Mine." A copy of the 1947 report of the Chamber's activities was at each place and marking the places for the women guests were red roses.

Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of H. E. Webster, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Robert W. Selinger, assistant secretary.

Here for the meeting was R. M. Kent of Columbus, local tax research representative from the Ohio Chamber of Commerce office.

DINNER AT BUNNELL HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Bunnell of west of Bucyrus entertained Sunday members and friends of the Primitive Baptist church of Brush Ridge at their home. A potluck dinner was served and entertainment included group singing. Prayer was by Elder L. V. Hite, pastor. Present with the host and hostess and Elder and Mrs. Hite were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Parks and children, Mrs. Ralph Mervine and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hite, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howell and son, Mrs. Rosa Bibler, Miss Catherine Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hite and daughter, Mrs. Donald Kuhn and children, Mrs. Alva Weist, Mrs. Daisy Hite and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. John Hite and children, Mrs. Carrie VanBuskirk and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steurer and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jury, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hite and son and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Workman.

MRS. W. A. SPITZER and daughters, Mrs. Donna Porter and Miss Phyllis Ruhl, entertained with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening for the pleasure of Mrs. Fred Ruhl, a recent bride. The guests, close friends and relatives of Mrs. Ruhl, were invited to the home of Mrs. Spitzer at 174 Carhart street. Decorations throughout the house and for refreshments were in green and white, with bouquets of white mums placed throughout the rooms. The honored guest found her gifts on a table beneath a suspended sprinkling can to which was attached green and white streamers. The evening was spent socially and cards were played. Your Good Health

By DR. BERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Migraine Headache Very Often Inherited.

One of the things that many of us inherit from our parents and grandparents is that very troublesome sickness called migraine. I know, because my father and grandfather had it; I have suffered from it since an early age and am still plagued with it now and then; several of my youngsters have it, too. As a matter of fact, seven out of every ten people afflicted with it show a similar family history.

Thus, it is —for personal as well as for professional reasons—that I am always on the alert when something appears in the scientific literature which seems to promise new methods in the treatment of this annoying disorder.

Migraine takes the form of periodic attacks of severe headache, which, in eight out of ten cases, is confined to one side of the head. There are two other outstanding symptoms — sickness at the stomach and vomiting—and, when the three occur together, a diagnosis of migraine is usually easy to make.

In addition, pain on exposing the eyes to light and blurring of the eyesight are common, but do not always occur. Excessive sweating is also often present. Less frequent are dizziness, ringing in the ears, and an increase in urine excretion.

The attacks may start at any age, but rarely persist beyond sixty.

Many women have migraine attacks with or just before their regular periods. Attacks may become less or disappear completely during pregnancy or after change of life. There is some evidence also that migraine may be due to allergy or oversensitivity to some food.

Unfortunately, migraine is not only agonizing for the patient but perplexing to the physician. From time to time, many different forms of treatment have been suggested, none of which is entirely successful.

However, there are a number of things on which most persons agree. For example, during an attack, the patient should be put to bed and the clothing loosened. The room should be dark, quiet, and well-ventilated. An ice-cap should be put on, if possible, and the patient should be given oxygen to breathe if it is available. This has been found to relieve four out of every five cases. If the patient must go to work, he should wear loose clothing.

As to medicine, a drug known as ergotamine tartrate is administered. This drug is given either by injection into a vein, under the skin, or it may even be taken by mouth. Of course, the exact dose to be employed must be determined by the physician. It is important to keep the dose as small as possible, consistent with relief of the headache.

In certain cases, ergotamine may cause such things as sickness to the stomach, vomiting, and muscle cramps. Such reactions may, in part, be warded off by the use of a drug known as atropine, and by massage of the cramped muscles.

If the attack of migraine persists, injections of salt and sugar solutions into a vein may be found helpful. There are also various pain-relieving drugs which may be helpful, but it is important not to allow the patient to become habituated to their use.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

L. S.: What causes heart murmur? Is there any cure for this condition?

Answer: Some heart murmurs are due to destruction of one of the valves of the heart, or to a defect in the septum between the two sides of the heart. These are called organic.

Since organic heart murmurs are due to the destruction of tissue, there is no cure for them. Many heart murmurs, however, are functional, that is, not due to any destruction of tissue. These are entirely harmless and may be disregarded.

Treatment of organic heart murmurs consists in building up the individual's general health with sufficient rest, a simple, well-balanced diet, and plenty of fresh air and sunshine. The main thing is to avoid fatigue and overexertion.

WILL STAY ON JOB, SAYS KING MIHAI

By The Associated Press

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 12—King Mihai I of Romania said today he had heard reports he was fleeing his country, but that they were "ridiculous and untrue."

The 26-year-old monarch and his mother Helen, divorced wife of ex-King Carol, flew in from Bucharest en route to the London wedding of Princess Elizabeth.

"I have heard those reports, quite a few of them," Mihai said in a brief niterview. "They are not true. I have my responsibility, and I intend to meet it."

The king was at the controls of his own two-engined transport for the five-hour trip to Munich.

Asked whether "political unrest" had diminished in Romania, he said it had and that the chief problem now is economic. He said Romanians are in grave danger economically.

Asked what one thing he wanted to tell the United States about his country, Mihai was about to reply when his mother intervened and said the plane ride had been windy and any answers might not be "so lucid."

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—Representatives of the nation's railroads and spokesmen for 350,000 of their operating employes were locked today in negotiations which may determine whether the nation will have another railroad strike.

The negotiations, conducted behind closed doors in Chicago's huge union station, were started Oct. 7. Both sides are pledged to keep the discussions secret.

Among the issues, however, are 14 changes in working rules demanded by the railroad brotherhoods. These are the same working rule issues which helped precipitate the two-day strike in May, 1946.

GOOD LUCK COMES TO "POOR" INDIANS

By International News Service

LANDER, Wyo.—It has been often charged that Uncle Sam's treatment of the original settlers of this continent, the American Indians, is one black blotch on the history of the United States.

During the 19th century the Redman was an "impediment" in the path of progress. Inevitably he was engulfed as civilization rolled inexorably westward across the Great Plains.

The Indians fought a losing battle against the white man. And when the echo of the last shot had died away, the tribes found themselves settled on "reservations"—vast tracts of land set aside by the victors as the perpetual home of the losers.

Usually Wasteland

More often than not, these reservations were barren wasteland, selected, it has been charged, because the treaty-makers felt that such impoverished terrain could support no other life.

In several notable instances however, these barren lands were veritable gold mines—black gold that is. More than a decade ago oil was discovered on reservation land in Oklahoma.

Through royalties, hundreds of poverty-stricken Indians became wealthy overnight. The sudden riches reacted like dynamite and in some cases the result was tragic, in others humorous.

The territory became a gold mine for all manner of salesmen almost overnight. The Indians were ready buyers for everything imaginable, from deluxe furniture which they arranged outside their too-small shacks, to block-long limousines which they (sometimes) sat in but couldn't drive.

In Wyoming, two heretofore impoverished tribes, the Shoshones and the Araphoe were dwelling on a reservation which was found to be the site of valuable oil fields.

In 1941, when the petroleum situation in this country was in desperate straits, several oil companies started to construct wells on the "reservation."

The result was that these companies had to pay royalties to these two tribes for use of the land. For the year ending June 30, 1947, the two tribes divided $750,000 for 3,747,000 barrels of oil.

This is quite an improvement over the previous situation wherein the Indians lived chiefly by running a few head of cattle and an occasional government check.

PRINCESS THANKS U. S. FOR GIFTS TO NEEDY

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 12 — Princess Elizabeth sent greetings to the American people today, thanking them for the thousands of "CARE" food parcels sent as wedding gifts for distribution to needy British widows and children.

The princess received officials of the Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe at Buckingham palace, giving them the original of a letter that will be sent to all Americans who subscribe to the nationwide gift drive.

The campaign has been conducted in the United States for four months and will continue after the wedding. There are approximately 42,000 widows with children receiving supplementary relief in Britain. Those who receive the gift parcels also will receive personal greetings from the princess.

Snake-Handling Cultists On Trial in Tennessee

By The Associated Press

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 12—The trial of 12 members of the Dolly Pond church of God on charges of violating the state's anti-snake handling law opened here today in circuit court.

Leaders of snake handling cults from Georgia and Kentucky were here to testify for the defendants and their form of religion.

The 12 persons were arrested Aug. 9 at church services near here by Deputy Sheriff Hugh Baker, who confiscated two snakes he said were used by the worshippers.

The girl was identified by police as the "sweater girl" bandit who, with a companion, staged two recent holdups in Chicago. On each occasion, the girl wore a different sweater.

Friendship Train Rolls Into North Platte, Nebr.

By The Associated Press

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. Nov. 12—Despite the early-morning cold, thousands of western Nebraskans gathered here to watch today as five carloads of food were attached to the friendship train, lengthening it to 48 cars.

The flag-draped train carrying food to Europe's hungry arrived at 7:10 a. m. (CST), more than an hour late, but counted on picking up time as it rolled eastward across Nebraska's snow-covered flat country.

The train will pick up at least ten more carloads of food in its stops at Kearney, Grand Island, Fremont, and Omaha, Neb.

A North Platte French war bride, Mrs. David Cramer, choked with emotion as she attempted to thank the crowd here for its help to her native country. Nebraska's lieutenant governor, Robert Crosby of North Platte, told the shivering crowd "you all know how cold you are; suppose you were hungry, too?"

witness chair and in a tone of indignation asked if the senate group "can imagine" an officer accepting such an offer during wartime.

"Oh, then you did think it was corrupt—in effect a bribe?" Ferguson broke in. "Why did you not report it?"

"I don't know if it was corrupt," Meyers replied.

Ferguson: "Why not report it to superiors?"

Meyers: "Maybe I should have. I have erred in many ways. Maybe that was an error."

Meyers, in reply to a question, said that as a retired major general he draws $461 monthly from the government and the payments are to continue as long as he lives.

Besides the job and loan matters, Meyers and Hughes have given contradictory testimony on another point.

Meyers said that after the war Hughes offered him $100,000 to get New York City to lift a ban against showing of Hughes' sexy movie, "The Outlaw." Hughes declared he "positively" did not offer Meyers $100,000 but acknowledged consulting him about the ban.

Meyers, partly bald and with an iron-gray mustache, shouted his denials of Hughes' testimony. He declared the aircraft builder had shown a "total disregard for and the most careless use of the truth."

He added that Neil McCarthy, former Hughes attorney, had relayed to him at the plane builder's request "a proposition for me to borrow $250,000 from Mr. Hughes."

FARMERS ASKED TO BOOST LIVESTOCK FEED GRAINS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—The government plans to ask farmers to plant nearly 6.5 per cent more land to livestock feed grains next year in an effort to replenish supplies cut short by this year's poor corn crop.

Larger grain harvests will be needed if a serious shortage of meats, dairy and poultry products is to be averted in 1949. These feeds will be scarcer in 1948 than this year because of the present corn shortage.

The agriculture department prepared to issue today a semi-final estimate of this year's output of corn and a few other major crops.

LOST 30 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry.

Here is what Mrs. C. Horwedel, 9618 Larnder Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, says about Rennel: "I have been taking your wonderful product for some time and plan to continue to take it as I have never felt better in my life and I am reducing the easy way. I have lost 30 pounds and am losing an average of 2 to 3 pounds a week." Don't be switched to another product, get genuine Rennel.

GRANGE TOLD GRAIN NEEDED FOR PEACE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O. Nov 12 — World peace cannot be possible unless the United States supplies grain to hungry nations, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P Anderson said last night in an address preceding the opening of the national grange convention here today

Anderson, speaking at the concluding session of the Ohio State Grange's 78th annual meeting, compared this nation with "Damocles of old who looked up from a royal feast to see a naked sword suspended above his head by a single hair."

"The hair suspending the modern sword of Damocles above our head is American grain," he added.

More than 25 000 delegates are attending the national meeting, which continues through Sunday. Soil conservation will be the chief topic of National Grange Master Albert S Goss said, but support of the administration's foreign aid program also will be sought.

Goss will keynote the national convention tonight at a welcoming band at Gov Thomas J Herbert and Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court also will speak

Americans urging immediate aid for hunger relief and the Marshall plan as other key parts of the American peace program," declared that the American farmer and his grain basket hold not only the key to European rehabilitation but also world peace

"The food of my rising countries are greater than ever and our own supplies are smaller," he continued. "That is why the American farmer has been asked to market his hogs at a little lighter weight to put less grain on his beef cattle and to conserve grain in every way he can"

Joliet and Marquette, the explorers, found coal near Utica, Ill., in 1673.

Notre Dame A Football Monster?

Opponent-Scaring Strength Backs Up Leahy Resignation Report.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
AP Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 12—Is Notre Dame becoming a football Frankenstein, too powerful for its own good?

It is no secret that the university has run into schedule difficulties and that some schools of the gridiron class required for a representative season are being scared off.

The severing of relations with Army—whether the 31-year-old rivalry had become dangerously over-emphasized or for off-the-record reasons involving personalities—shocked many Notre Dame alumni.

And now, just a few days after the Irish walloped the cadets 27-7 in the series' finale, come reports that Coach Frank Leahy offered his resignation.

The school's president and vice president, the Revs. John J. Cavanaugh and John H. Murphy, respectively, quickly denied that Leahy had proposed to quit, either orally or in writing. Then Leahy issued a statement through the Notre Dame publicity section that he would "consider it a great honor and privilege to remain at Notre Dame for as long a period of time as university officials believe I can be an asset to this institution."

Leahy was unavailable for direct comment on whether he had offered to resign.

Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, said that Leahy had offered to quit his job as far back as October, 1946, "if university executives felt his presence on the athletic staff was detrimental to the best interest of the institution."

The report was started yesterday by Joe Williams of the New York World Telegram and H. G. Salsinger of the Detroit News who wrote that Leahy offered to resign because of repercussions of the Army-Irish break-off.

Williams said that Army's farewell was "only one withdrawal in a long series (from football schedules) and, as these withdrawals mounted, the football set-up at Notre Dame began to lose stability and no little prestige."

Privately, the Army's attitude may be similar to that held by several Big Nine schools—that Notre Dame simply is too powerful a customer to handle along with seven or eight other teams on a season's schedule. Michigan, Ohio State, Illinois and Minnesota decided to shun the Irish and there may develop a complete unanimity in the Big Nine to cold shoulder the Irish.

Pep Rally Set

The Harding and St. Mary Booster Clubs and WMRN will stage a football rally tomorrow night on the eve of the Harding-Fremont Ross season closer.

Tentative plans for the pep rally call for the Harding band to parade up North Main street from Center to the WMRN studio grounds where the rally will be held at 8 p. m.

The traditional bonfires, cheers, music by the band, interviews of the coaches, players and school officials, and fireworks will be staged to fire the Prexies to a win over Fremont Friday.

All Harding and St. Mary students, players, friends, and fans of the schools are invited to attend. Free hot dogs and soft drinks will be served to all.

VOIGTS PROPOSES FIFTH OFFICIAL

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—Coach Bob Voigts, whose Northwestern team lost a "long count" 7-6 game to Ohio State last Saturday, yesterday proposed a "clock-watching" fifth official at Big Nine games.

"I'm not complaining over the timing as supervised by Ohio State," Voigts told the Chicago football writers, "but before we lost possession of the ball in the final minute of play, the clock showed we took only 14 seconds to run three plays—one second for the first, two seconds for the second and 11 seconds for the third."

He said a fifth official—in addition to the Referee, Umpire, Head-linesman and Field Judge—would put a "neutral" observer on the clock.

Voights said he had no complaint about the inflaction calling of Headlinesman E. C. Curtiss which gave Ohio State four plays after regulation time had ended and an ultimate Buckeye touchdown and extra point.

"There were violations each time," he admitted, "but I think that the calling of our center Dick Price as a 12th man on the field was stretching the technicality of a rule that should be modified—especially when the player obviously was going his fastest to get off the field."

Whisler Will Be Ready But Bucks Still Have Troubles

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—Dr. Richard Patton, Ohio State university's team physician, today assured Coach Wes Fesler that fullback Joe Whisler would be able to punt against Illinois in the Saturday homecoming game.

While that relieved Fesler's anxiety about having a reliable kicker around, it still left the O S U coach up in the air for backfield men since Patton said Whisler probably wouldn't be able to do much more than the punting.

Whisler, who received a chest injury, Pete Perini, who ruptured a blood vessel in his arm, and Alex Verdova, who tore a cartilage in his side all were hurt in the Northwestern game last Saturday. Verdova and Perini, State's other punte, definitely will be out this week, Patton said.

Two other top backfield men Dean Sensanbaugher and Bob Brugge, have been hampered by injuries all season.

In yesterday's practice, Fesler had center Howard Teifke alternating at defensive fullback, the spot usually handled by Perini and Whisler. However, substitute Chuck Renner, a capable pass defender, probably will handle defensive fullback most of the time.

Left half Rod Swinehart subbed for Ollie Cline at defensive quarter, indicating that sometime Saturday Fesler may find himself with two left halfbacks a right half and a center in the backfield when the team switches from defense to offense. Cline plays fullback on offense.

Slowed by bad weather, the Buckeyes worked most of the time on defense yesterday. Fesler set up line formations geared to break up the potent passing of Illinois quarterback Perry Moss.

Moss has thrown 97 passes this season, completed 57 and had only four intercepted. His accurate arm has accounted for 550 yards so far this fall.

FINDLAY WINS EIGHTH

By The Associated Press

ADRIAN, Mich., Nov. 12—Findlay college defeated Adrian 27-13 yesterday for its eighth win of the 1947 football season against one loss. Findlay had a 21-0 lead in the last period before Adrian scored two quick touchdowns. Then Ed Sustersic of the invaders roped 65 yards off tackle for his second six-pointer.

Sets Course Record In Hawaiian Open Tourney

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Nov. 12—E. J. "Dutch" Harrison established a new course record six strokes under the old figure in winning the $10,000 Hawaiian Open golf tournament.

The Little Rock Arkansas professional scored a 69 in his final round yesterday for a 13-under-par total of 275 in four days of sensational play over the Wailae course. His nearest opponent, Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., trailed by four strokes.

Harrison, in taking $2,000 first prize money, broke the old Hawaiian Open record of 281 set back in 1931 by Art Bell of San Francisco.

3 COUNTRIES SPLIT HORSE SHOW HONORS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—They spread the top honors from the National Horse Show among three countries today and New Yorkers wondered if they ever again would see as exciting a windup as that which closed the eight-day run of the 1947 classic in Madison Square Garden late last night.

Substitution took the Open Hunter title after Portmaker, the 1946 champion was kicked by Prompt Payment. Substitution's stablemate and reserve winner last year, injuring the Washington horse so badly he had to be scratched in the final event.

Poppy, now 22-years-old, came off second best in the Open Jumper stake last night, but she carrier Sun Beau, owned by Sterling Smith of Ravenna, O., to the third extra jumpoff before the issue was decided. Poppy is owned by W. R. Ballard, of Weston, Ontario, Canada.

Second place was good enough, however, to give Poppy the Open Hunter title by a single point over Sun Beau.

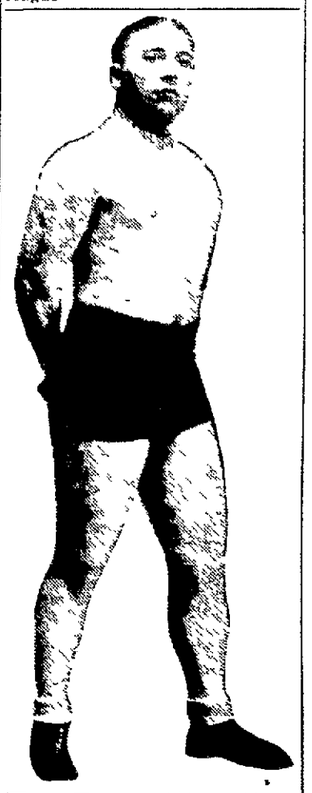
Lieut. Colonel Humberto Mariles, Captain Ruben Uriza and Captain Alberto Valdes rode the Mexican jumpers to victory in the last and most important of the military events.

A's To Farm Portsmouth If They Get Franchise

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUUTH, O., Nov. 12—The Philadelphia Athletics completed arrangements today to operate a farm club here next year if the city gets a franchise in either the class D Ohio State league or the proposed class C Mountain State league embracing Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

Arthur H. Ehlers, director of minor league clubs for the Mackmen, told city officials everything was set as soon as they got the franchise. Harry Doerr, chairman of a Chamber of Commerce committee reported that the city expected to enter one of the two leagues.



Tag Team Wrestling Thursday

Paul Orth and Billy Weidner will team up Thursday night at the Marion armory to try and beat the combination of Capt. Mike Mihalakis and Dutch Schultz. Last Thursday Schultz and Orth just about had a riot when Paul won a close decision over the Texan and in the last tag match Mihalakis and Schultz beat the team of Orth and Pogi but Weidner, who has never lost a match in Marion, should make Paul a lot better partner. The team match will be over the two-hour route with the best two out of three falls. There will also be two thirty-minute matches in which Paul Orth will tangle with Capt. Mike Mihalakis and Billy Weidner will try to flatten the shoulders of Dutch Schultz. It looks like one of the best tag team matches to date. A ten-minute prelim will start things going at 8:30. 2 Semi-Pro Cage Teams Seek Opponents Here

Two semi-pro cage squads are seeking booking with basketball teams in the Marion area.

The Caledonia Merchants have already lined up six home games but would like more.

Rook's Clothing of Newark seeks road engagements for the early part of the season, but will want to make some home stands later. Dick O'Connor, 128 Cambria street, Newark, is manager.

The Caledonia Merchants, coached by Thurman Wright and managed by Kenneth Ott, have two games scheduled with all-colored teams — the Avenue Pharmacy and the Shenk Motors of Columbus. Jimmy Clark, Ohio State great, plays with Shenk Motors.

Players who are making strong bids for position on the Caledonia team are centers Gene Freet, Lynn Coulter, Warren Iden, forwards Kenneth Ott, Arden Kline, Don Myers, Wayne Weir, and guards Arden Cover, Irey and Dick Bigford.

The Caledonia Merchant's incomplete schedule: Nov. 15, Shelby Depot. Nov. 29 Ostrander Pros. Dec. 6, Martin Restaurant (Columbus), Dec. 13, Avenue Pharmacy (Columbus) Dec. 20, Carl's Body Shop (Dayton), Jan. 8, Shenk Motors (Columbus).

IBERIA TO OPEN CAGE SEASON AT CALEDONIA

IBERIA, Nov. 12—Coach Ronald Sommerville has announced the opening game of basketball season will be with the powerful Caledonia five at Caledonia Friday night. Underclassmen will probably start in preference to veterans of last year's squad he said.

Iberia will play its first home game Nov. 15 with Martel.

Mt. Gilead-Cardington Tilt Winds Up Area Football

Besides the Harding-Fremont Ross football battle here Friday night, only one other high school football game is scheduled in the area—Mt. Gilead at Cardington.

The Mt. Gilead Indians, with a record of four wins and [illegible] losses, will meet the Pirates, who just started football this year for the first time since 1910.

But while the high school football season is drawing to a close, the basketball season is fast approaching and several cage teams in the Marion area are preparing to play their first game only two weeks hence.

Cardington has little better than a week to prepare for their cage opener Nov. 26 after the football season ends Friday night. Coach Dennis Bell's 12 basketball lettermen are all on the football squad, and two of them will be hampered by football injuries—Bill Maxwell and Alton Roach. Other outstanding lettermen in an expected squad of 34 are Dewey Yake, Paul Bowman, Louis Levering and Kent Curl.

Galion opens the hardwood season with Findlay Dec. 6. Coach Ed Rannow began practice this week with a nucleus of four lettermen players—Leo Smith, Gerald Thatcher and Robert Pollock. Last year the Tigers won nine and lost eight.

Marysville opens at London Nov. 26. Six veterans returned to the Monarch squad this year—two six-one forwards Jack McGuire and Bill Wall, a six-three center, Jerry Kingsmore, and three guards, John Dayton, six feet three inches, Harry Evans six feet, and Art Strong. Last year Coach Warren Widner's Monarchs won 13 and lost eight in the regular season, and won three out of four district tournament games.

The Mt. Gilead basketball team is the only one in Morrow county which hasn't started practice yet. Coach Richard King won't start drilling his cagers until after the Indian football finale with Cardington Friday night.

Richwood Lacks Height

Richwood cagers will again lack height this year, Coach R. D. Fetter reports. Only two of his boys—Don Wood and Marvin Perkins—are in the six-foot class. Four lettermen returned to the Richwood squad this year, Les Wall, Don Wood, Bill Taylor and Clinton McElroy, all seniors. Virgil Lyons, another senior was ineligible last year but may make a strong bid for the first team. Two juniors, Gene Chenot and Vernon Chapman, made a good showing with the reserves last year and may push the seniors for varsity positions. Other juniors who are expected to add strength to the squad include Dave Corbin, Roy Moses, Bill Beausay, John Mason, LeRoy Everhart, Glenn Bennett, Don Hale, Richard Bennett, Bob Long, Glenn Smalley and Paul Cline. Last year Coach Earl Shaffer's

Michigan 21, Wisconsin 13—Almost but not quite tempted to go overboard on the 'Trojan' horse Michigan's unscalen Wolverines will face at Madison Northwestern players who faced both, says the Wolves should win going away.

Notre Dame 33, Northwestern 7—Even the fuss over whether or not Coach Leahy tried to resign won't slacken the Irish drive towards another undefeated season.

Illinois 21, Ohio State 7—There won't be a silver platter or a long count for the Buckeyes against the Illini, who got warmed up real good in belting Western Michigan 60-14.

Indiana 28, Marquette 6—Even without halfback George Taliaferro, the Hoosiers should manhandle the Hilltoppers.

Minnesota 13, Iowa 7—Gunning for second place in the Big Nine race the Gophers may have an uphill climb against the Hawkeyes especially if Fleet Billy Bye isn't completely mended.

Purdue 21, Pittsburgh 6—The Boilermakers will be boiling after the unexpected tripping by Minnesota and the Panthers will be peeking down a Big Nine gun barrel again.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

You've probably asked yourself or your neighbor this question:

"Why should we keep on giving aid to Europe, particularly under the Marshall plan?

"That plan calls for shelling out $17 billion for the next four years at a cost of maybe $20,000,000,000. Why should we take on something like that?"

An answer to that is given by the special committee which President Truman appointed to study our ability to help Europe. This committee of 19 citizens, headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman, gave these three reasons:

James Marlow

1. Political—to stop Communism.

2. Economic—to help Europe and, by doing so, to help ourselves, too.

3. Humanitarian—to help people in distress.

POLITICAL—

The countries of eastern Europe are dominated by Russia. We don't want the countries of western Europe to turn Communist or come under Russian control.

It's in our own interest to see that this doesn't happen.

If the countries of western Europe can become prosperous, there is less chance they'll turn to Communism.

Right now those western European countries which look to America for help are Democratic. And the people in them are free. But the committee says:

"These countries of western Europe cannot continue to play this role un-aided.

"IF BY DEMOCRATIC means they do not soon obtain improvement in their affairs, they may be driven to turn in the opposite direction. Therein lies the strength of the Communist tactic:

"It wins by default when misery and chaos are great enough."

The committee takes a serious view of what would happen in this country if Europe turned to Communism. The committee sees this happening here:

America would arm and become a fortress; there'd be tremendous changes in our lives, such as government controls over us; and maybe even a change in our government.

ECONOMIC—

Our economic self-interest—which means our prosperity—is tied in with the prosperity of Europe.

Trade with Europe has always been of the greatest importance to us.

If the ability of the 270,000,000 people in western and central Europe to regain prosperity declines, it will have a big effect on us.

BY ABILITY TO regain prosperity is meant their ability to produce things they need and things they can sell to us so they can buy from us other things they need.

This is easy to understand:

If they can produce things to sell to us and other countries, they'll make money and keep their people working.

And we can keep more people working here if we make things to sell to Europe, things which Europe can buy because it's selling some of its own goods to us.

HUMANITARIAN—

Millions of Europeans will be cold and hungry this winter, the committee says, and:

"To withhold our aid would be violate every moral precept associated with our free government and free institutions." The committee goes on:

We can't pour out our resources indefinitely, even though we're a rich country.

So any plan for helping Europe should be a plan, like the Marshall plan, for European recovery to make it self-supporting and end the need of help from us. The committee says:

"The illusion that it would be thrifty to do nothing would be shattered if, by such a policy, the future existence or development of our economic and political institutions should be seriously jeopardized."

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MARY was so lovely a picture as she stood in the doorway with her face as untroubled as that of a child that my heartstrings twisted at the thought of bringing fresh complications into her life from which such deep shadows had so recently been lifted.

"I just wakened," she said, "and wandered in here to see if there was any chance of grabbing a sandwich or something. I'm ravenous. And then I hear Aunt Katharine taking my name in vain, saying I must be told something as soon as possible.

"You don't look too serious," she said, her keen eyes searching our faces, "so I'm sure nobody's dead or hospitalized. But something's up that concerns me, and I want to know what it is."

"It doesn't concern you at all, except remotely," Katharine said sharply. "But there's no objection to your hearing about it. However, you're going to have your sandwich first. I'm adamant on that."

"'She-who-must - be - obeyed!'" Mary murmured mischievously.

"Exactly," Katharine said, unperturbed. "Now tell me what kind of sandwich you want, and what do you want to drink with it."

"You ought to know my order by heart," Mary mocked.

Katharine tried to look aghast, but failed because Mary was turning one of her famous smiles in her direction.

"At this hour?" she protested.

"Or any other," Mary said. "Two hamburgers, rare mit onions and little pickles, and a pot of coffee, hot and fresh."

"Will you do the honors?" Katharine asked me resignedly, and I started for the telephone, when Dicky stopped me.

"I think you have something there, Brat," he said. "I'm going to double your order for me, and, if I interpret the gleams in the eyes of your aunt and your nurse, I'll quadruple it."

"Triple it, not quadruple it, Madge," Katharine said. "I can manage one hamburger and half a pot of coffee, if you can dispose of the rest of the order."

"I'll try to do my duty," I said, as I took down the receiver, for the Lansfield hamburgers have a wide reputation for toothsomeness, and I never refuse coffee, morning, noon, or night.

Room service promised to have our order up quickly, and kept the promise. When we had finished the coffee and sandwiches, Dicky rose, and started for the door.

"This is your meat, my dear," he said, with an airy wave of his hand at me. "I'll be up in my studio if you need a strong arm, either of you."

"You must be expecting a hair pulling," Mary told him with a little moue.

"You never can tell with women," her uncle said, and hurried out of the door.

"This is where I disappear also," Katharine told us as she started for the bedroom door.

"What is this, anyway?" Mary demanded, staring at her nurse.

"Your aunt will tell you," Katharine answered, and the next instant the bedroom door had closed behind her, and Mary turned her bewildered eyes on my face.

"Aunt Katharine and Uncle Dicky act as if I had smallpox," she said ruefully.

"They're simply doing what they think fitting," I said a bit primly, "because part of the problem I'm going to present to you shouldn't be discussed by more than two people, yourself and one other."

"I'm glad the 'other' is going to be you," she said sincerely.

"So am I," I told her, "Now draw your chair closer, stretch out comfortably, and I'll begin a long and most interesting story."

"Hush-hush?" she asked, stretching herself as a graceful cat might.

"Very much hush-hush," I said, and cravenly putting off the real issue, I related what my father had said about the treasure under the Transvanian castle, and the betrayal of the secret hiding place by Otto to the woman friend of his mistress, Laura.

"What a damned heel he is!" Mary exclaimed. Then she looked at me keenly.

"But that is nothing I had to be told," she said. "What's the real meat in the cocoanut?"

I took a deep breath.

"Georges is back in the city," I said.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE long line of men and women in the outer cold shuffled slowly like a half-frozen centipede toward the warm door.

Many had waited long hours. They leaned against the huge brick bulk of the building when the line halted. The middleaged sagged wearily. The young made a jest of their fatigue.

As each one in the line entered the building he put down $3 and got a paper ticket. A man finally came out and told the dwindling group:

"That's all. Sold out." They turned unhappily away.

But those early enough to get the tickets had passports into another world. They felt lucky to be able to buy the opening of standing room at the Metropolitan Opera.

Hal Boyle

They waited patiently as the fashionable ladies in mink and ermine rustled conspicuously to their seats. Then the great golden curtain lifted on the world they had come to see.

It was a land of lost delight to most Americans—the world of the opera. It was the strange and tuneful land of Puccini, Verdi, Rossini, Offenbach, and the mighty melodies of a man named Wagner.

THE NAMES OF THE MEN who composed that world look to many like the signs on barbershops or random selections from a teutonic phone book. But to the people who had waited in line that night the names stand for many beautiful things.

The world the curtain lifted on was Verdi's—a flamboyant Swedish court in the eighteenth century, where death awaited a king.

From my seat I could glance over and watch the wonder of music wash over the rapt faces of one young couple standing near. They were deep in a world I never had learned to plumb.

The plump little tenor on the stage melodiously baying his illicit passion to an over-nourished soprano was slightly ridiculous in my view. To the young couple, however, the bugling pair were obviously great lovers starcrossed by hopeless destiny.

They had been drawn over the bridge of make-believe, and were happy on the other side. I hadn't even been able to put one foot on the bridge, but I decided to try. It was the first full length opera I had ever attended.

So I made an effort to forget the inanities of the Verdi plot. I overlooked the absurd physical mis-matching of the stage lovers and the fact that they sang in Italian. Instead I concentrated on the color of the scene and the music that poured out of their throats in silver torrents.

WELL, YOU KNOW, gradually it began to work. There was something in the way those voices bounced notes off the gallery rafters that caught hold and began to have a meaning. Yes, even for a musical tin ear like mine.

I began to feel the lure of opera, which hitherto I had always looked on as a foreign instrument of vocal sabotage. And now, thanks to that young couple, I've decided there is no reason why a broad-minded man who enjoys listening to a good hog caller can't also learn to enjoy the opera. It is no harder than switching from playing marbles to baseball.

So, adagio, adagio, professor—let's go. But I sure am going to miss the juke boxes.

A COUPLE of intense little gents, looking like men from Mars with oversized earphones, microphones attached to their chins and spyglasses with lenses sticking out two feet, focused their television widgets on America's elder statesmen.

These machines resembled over grown movie cameras; they whirred gently and blinked small red lamps like warning signals.

In the back of the great caucus room, where the blue-white spotlights of 1947 were hidden in the 1896 chandeliers of French crystal, sat a local high school class getting a free lesson in applied electronics and world economics.

THE SCENE SOMEHOW was appropriate; electric eyes and youngsters watching the senate foreign relations committee ponder the chances of building a peaceful and prosperous new world with dollars for mortar.

The committeemen, Vandenberg, Capper, White, Connally, George, Thomas, Barkley, et al., were gray of hair and lined of face. Only exception was Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Mass., the baby of the group. He sat at the foot of the table.

The veteran lawgivers, trying to ignore the electrical trappings which seared their eyeballs, called for questioning Secretary of State George C. Marshall and his chief assistant, Robert A. Lovett, on how much money we should spend this fiscal year abroad.

MARSHALL STRODE in between two copas, revealed a freshly-shorn head when he doffed his rainspattered hat, and sat directly in front of his inquisitors. At his left was the completely bald Lovett, looking like the diplomat of fable in a dark suit, blue shirt and hard-boiled white collar. There was one other odd thing about the scenery;

Behind the head man, on ice-cream parlor chairs snitched from the press tables, squatted in respectful silence 18 bright young men from the state department, each with an overstuffed briefcase. Many of these young uns puffed brier pipes, as the ambassadors do in the men's fashion magazines. They didn't utter a peep.

Chairman Arthur Vandenberg, white-thatched, pink-cheeked and jaunty in a blue-bow tie, turned the glisten of his spectacles upon Messrs. Marshall and Lovett. He said the question wasn't the billions they wanted spent in Europe over the next years, but how much cash did they expect from congress between now and next July.

WELL SIR, SAID MARSHALL, that was a hard one to answer. He counted off on his fingers: $597,000,000 for Europe, $500,000,000 for the Army in Germany and Japan $60,000,000—maybe—for China, and a few millions here and a few there. "Anything for Latin America?" demanded Vandenberg.

"No necessity for that," replied Marshall.

All this time Vandenberg was scribbling down the figures, using a trick plastic pencil the senate stationery store sells the employes for 15 cents. The whole works added up, he said, to $1,300,000.

"Oh no, sir," protested Lovett.

"More than that," agreed Marshall.

The gentleman from Michigan smiled. He apologized. Like many another man without an adding machine he'd gotten tangled in the naughts. One of the millions on his crutch pad should have been billions.

"Something better than $1,500,000,000" said Lovett, "is about right."

So be it. Marshall left in a few minutes; Lovett answered questions on the details the high school class looked hopefully and the men from Mars fiddled earnestly with their dials.

HERBERT JOINS IN MOVE TO CUT AUTO ACCIDENTS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today asked motorists to make certain their autos were prepared for winter weather.

"With winter approaching," he warned, "don't let the snow and icy weather catch you with your auto in faulty condition, especially your brakes, windshield wipers and defrosters, electrical systems, headlights and tires"

The appeal to motorists came simultaneously with requests to city and county enforcement officers to aid the state highway patrol in reducing traffic accidents in Ohio.

Both requests followed a report from Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the highway patrol, which disclosed a 22.6 per cent increase in all types of patrol investigated accidents in the first 10 months of 1947 as compared with 1946.

MARION COLLEGE STUDENT IN RHODES CANDIDATE LIST

Three of the 31 will be selected Dec. 10 to compete with 15 others before the district committee two days later, the dispatch states. The district group will award scholarships to six of the competitors. The awards are for three years of study at Oxford university, England.

At Monday's hearing both admitted the theft of sweaters, jewelry and other articles valued at $17 from local stores. Upon the order of the court parents of the pair reimbursed merchants for the stolen property.

ACCUSED SLAYER OF SONS SENT TO LIMA

By The United Press

RAVENNA, Nov. 12—Mrs. Barbara McVeigh, 29-year-old mother who confessed the slayings of her two sons, today was ordered committed to Lima State hospital for the criminal insane for a period of observation.

Mrs. McVeigh wept in court as she told Common Pleas Judge Blake Cook how she feared that she had an incurable blood disease and that the children, Malcolm, 5, and Davis, two months, might have inherited it. She declined to enter a plea during preliminary hearing, and a not guilty plea was entered for her.

County Prosecutor Seabury H. Ford said a medical examination disclosed that Mrs. McVeigh was not afflicted with any blood or organic disease.

The bodies of the two children were found late Sunday in a bathtub of scalding water in the home of Mrs. McVeigh's aunt at nearby Geauga lake.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 — The stock market clung to a narrow range today with price changes well mixed.

Favorites slanted upward at the start of an accumulation of orders over the Armistice day recess, but general demand failed to develop. Dealings dwindled to their recent slow pace. Near midday advances and declines were widely scattered and largely limited to fractions of a point.

Commission houses reported customers continued reluctant to act in advance of the approaching congressional session. Air Transports had to contend with the action on some lines grounding DC-6 planes pending investigation of recent mishaps. Some bidding was based on belief the market was in technical position for a recovery in view of recent resistance to selling pressure.

In higher ground at times were Johns-Manville, Dow Chemical, Chesapeake & Ohio, Western Union, Air Reduction, J. I. Case, Goodyear (traded ex-dividend), and Baltimore & Ohio. Laggards included Boeing, Bethlehem, Chrysler (ex-dividend), Cerro de Pasco, American Telephone, Deere, U.S. Rubber, Southern Pacific and Electric Power & Light.

Bonds were steady. Cotton futures improved.

Plans Made To Bring New Industry to Upper

UPPER SANDUSKY, Nov. 12— Volunteer solicitors for Upper Sandusky Industries Co. have passed the three-quarter mark in their drive to raise $60,000 needed to erect a factory building. Directors of the company have secured a site on route 23 in the northwest corner of Upper Sandusky. A Michigan firm, manufacturers of precision tools, has agreed to rent the building with an option to buy both land and building at any time after the first year of occupancy.

The building, of concrete block and brick is to cover 30,000 square feet of floor space. The funds being raised in the current drive are secured through th sale of $25 shares in the Upper Sandusky Industries Co. The company will own only the land and building and is not in any way interested in the operation of the factory expected to move here.

The management of the factory is planning to bring 20 skilled supervisory employes to Upper Sandusky with them. They will hire an estimated 130 additional employes here.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Secretary Marshall asks us to invest 16 to 20 billion dollars in a program he cannot guarantee will be successful . . Only a weakkneed, cautious, thrifty people would hesitate a moment.

* * *

But as we understand it, if we refuse to put up 16 to 20 billion, Europe will drift to the Soviet, which isn't putting up anything.

* * *

This is the first real indication we have had that our world charm is only Fort Knox deep.

* * *

Sen. Malone of Nevada favors feeding the hungry direct with full credit to the U S A . This novel idea will be given full consideration before it is abandoned

* * *

But there is is new testimony that the world is two and a fifth billions years old . . . It seems strange to think of it running on and on even before we had a foreign policy.
